PROFILE

Over the last 10 years I have been actively involved in graphic design, photography, videography, web design, UI design, product design, branding, packaging design, project management and training for one of the UK's leading specialist sports retailers. In conjunction with that I have also provided these services for global brands such as Asics, Brooks, Saucony, Garmin and ON.

These opportunities have allowed me to integrate my passion for fresh and original design and combine it with focused, timely attention to the client's requirements. This has allowed me to build an impressive portfolio and body of work.

Experience, self-learning, research, and education has been my main focus in developing my skills and knowledge further. I am continuing to learn and keep up with industry standards and am looking to the future of design and creativity.
